YOUNG GARDENERS WIN PRIZE

MORGAN CADETS TO CHOOSE MOST POPULAR CO-ED

2d Style Show Will Be Given Friday.

After having shattered all traditions with a successful style show last spring, Morgan Park High school's R. O. T. C. has engaged in another experiment. The cadets are sponsoring a popularity contest to determine the most popular girl in each of the four classes at school.

Ballooting is being conducted by division students of the advanced drawing class held Friday at the cadets' second style show, which will have as its principal feature the modeling of latest fashions by these winning girls and the runners up.

The latest things in masculine attire will share the limelight with feminine raiment, as was done last year, and Sergt. H. E. Parrett, sponsor of the R. O. T. C., is anticipating a full and popular response to warrant holding two shows, one at 2:30 o'clock Friday and one at 4.

Sergt. Parrett in Charge.
Beauty, popularity, grace, and general appearance have been named as qualifications for which winners of the contest will be chosen. Only paid members of the student association are being permitted to cast their votes.

Wilfred Young, cadet first lieutenant, is assisting Sergt. Parrett with arrangements for the show. Half the proceeds will go to the student aid fund.

The diorama of a village entered by Morgan Park in the annual flower show of the Garden Club of Illinois carried off a special award. Architectural students of the advanced drawing class had been working on the project since early last fall under the direction of Miss Edna Hotchkiss and Curtis Hunter.

The village was shown in three dimensions, with model houses made from original drawings by the students. A twilight lighting effect was achieved by one group of boys, the landscape planned by another, ground construction and painting by still others.

Take Part in Project.
Engaged on the project were Miss Anita Mense, Roy Swanson, Walter Chinell, Alfred Mannel, Gustav Bornemann, Henry Swanson, Charles Boyer, Allan Colombe, Ralph Faulkner, Dick Ehler, William Anderson, Robert Barton, Edward Olmstead, Henry Swanson, and Stig Berggren.

Under Miss Mense's direction a model home with landscaping and living plants was exhibited by the botany class. Willard Verdun, Miss Corinne Mense, Gene Gallewin, and Robert Bartee.

Cadet Major Charles Gardner of the R. O. T. C. recently was awarded the highest honor obtainable in high school R. O. T. C. in receiving a commission as cadet colonel of the Chicago high school brigade staff. This is the highest honor obtained so far by a Morgan Park student. In addition to serving as presiding officer at the cadet officers' court martial, Cadet Colonel Gardner has completed three terms in the citizens' military training camps.

South Side Woman's Club.
The South Side Woman's club of the Marks Nathan Orphans' home will have a board meeting at 1:30 o'clock Thursday at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Minkus, 7522 Yates avenue.

This Week in the Garden

Do you know the safe planting dates for the earliest spring vegetables? Are you a good home for-ester in the selection and care of choice shrubs and trees? To aid the home gardener, The Chicago Tribune offers six specially prepared booklets on as many garden phases. These include "Favorite Trees of Chicago," "Shrubbery for the Home," "The Care of City Trees," "Trouble Shooting in the Vegetable Garden," and "The City Man's Vegetable Garden." These may be obtained from The Tribune's public service offices for 11 cents each or three for 25 cents, or you may send 14 cents in stamps for one or 29 cents in stamps for three to the Garden Department, The Chicago Tribune. Another booklet is "Flower Gardening," 11 cents, or by mail, 14 cents.

Monday, April 10.
Seeds of the morning glory Heavenly Blue should be started early. They will germinate more quickly if soaked in water for 24 hours before sowing. The moonflower may also be started. These seeds have a hard coat which should be filed and soaked in water. Keep the seed box in a warm place. Obtain a supply of labels now. For pot use the five inch size is excellent. To preserve them dip the labels in white lead.

Tuesday, April 11.
Watch the seedlings that are growing in seed boxes in the window. If they are weak and spindly they are growing in a too warm and dry place. The hotbed should be properly aired and watered. Give protection by covering with board over the ash. Air on bright days. Many plants in the rock garden will show signs of heaving, these should be pressed firmly into the soil.

Wednesday, April 12.
Continue with the pruning of trees and shrubs. Young trees should be given every attention to see that they are properly trained and have good scaffold branches. Remember that if these young trees are properly cared for in their youth the removal of large branches will be unnecessary when they become old. Sow the seeds of primroses and cyclamen for blooming next winter.

Thursday, April 13.
Repot house plants. Palms, bromeliads, papyrus, rubber plants, and many others will do best if they are not overpotted. Palms that have shown themselves upward in their containers may be entirely removed from these containers, the lower part of the root system cut away, and re-potted.

Friday, April 14.
When growth is starting, ferns can be divided best. The adiantums or maiden hair ferns are easily increased in this way. They should be turned out of their pots and a knife passed right through the ball from top to bottom, dividing it into two or more portions, which may then be potted separately.

Saturday, April 15.
The rock garden will have to be looked over soon and additions both of stones and plants made where needed. Certain plants will have to be restricted, others propagated, and a good top dressing put on.

"WHOLE TRUTH" IS THREATENED AT TILDEN TECH

The Tilden Tech Times will go haywire with a bang tomorrow when several of the staff's best minds combine forces to bring out a Ballyhoo issue. The alleged purpose of the issue, as stated by Martin Zitz, editor in chief, is to give the lads a chance to say what they think about their teachers. And Editor Zitz points with pride to the fact that the Ballyhoo number is to appear on the same day as report cards.

MISS MARY ZITZ

The issue will consist of a double page profusely illustrated with ancient cuts of Tilden celebrities from the Times morgue. Accompanying these pictures will be stories from the moon fertile of the staff's brains.

The slogan of the issue, "The whole truth, nothing but the truth—and a little more," will be announced on the editorial page. And below will be listed "Ballyhoo Advocates: 1. Shorter school hours. 2. More time to drink beer. 3. Same old two."

Zitz, who is the regular page 2 editor and business manager of the Times, is getting out the sheet with Assistant Editors Joseph Cole, Patrick McCarthy, and Oregon Kansas Hunter, regular editorial and feature writer on the Times.

A combined junior prom and reunion of Tilden letter men will be held from 8 o'clock to midnight Saturday evening at the Masonic temple, 67th street and Yale avenue.

James Hickey, president of the Letter Men, is leading a wing of the prom with Miss Mary Craney, 126 and James Purks, chairman of the social committee, are in charge of arrangements for the dance.
